Snap and the Missing Sneaker

A Live AI by Genoch story

A Very Big Sneeze

Snap woke up and looked at his feet.

One green sneaker was there. One was not.

"Where did it go?" he said.

Snap sniffed by the big rock. He sniffed by the bed. Then — AH-CHOO! — a big sneeze shook the cave walls.

Snap sniffed by the door. He sniffed in the dark corner. Then — AH-CHOO! — another sneeze sent dust into the air.

"I just want my sneaker!" he said.

He sniffed one more time. Then came the biggest sneeze of all.

AH-CHOO!

Snap sat down. His sneeze was not helping. But his sneaker was still gone.

Pip Helps Out

Pip came into the cave. "I will help!" he said.

Pip sniffed by the big rock. Then his eyes drooped. He began to snooze.

"Pip!" said Snap. "Wake up!"

Pip gave a jump. "Sorry! No more snooze for me." He sniffed by the bed. Then he started to snooze again.

"Pip!" said Snap.

"I am up! I am up!" said Pip. He sniffed in the dark corner. His eyes drooped one more time. One more snooze.

Snap gave him a little nudge. "We have to find my sneaker!"

Pip blinked. "Right! No snooze. Just look." But his eyes were already going shut.

Mila and the Sneaky Look

Mila came to the cave. "I will snoop!" she said.

She got down low. She began to snoop behind the big rock. Then she went to snoop by the log.

"She is good at this," said Pip.

Snap nodded. "Look at her snoop."

Mila did not talk. She just crept along and kept to snoop in every dark spot. She peeked. She looked. She did not stop.

"Did you find it?" asked Snap.

Mila shook her head. "Not yet. But I will snoop some more."

Found It!

Snap sniffed by the log one more time.

Then — AH-CHOO! — the biggest sneeze yet shot out of him.

A frog leaped off the log and landed with a plop.

"My sneaker!" yelled Snap.

There it was. Right under the log. His green sneaker, safe and sound.

Mila picked up the sneaker and gave it to Snap.

"A frog had your sneaker!" said Pip.

Snap pulled on his sneaker and grinned. "I guess my sneeze was good for something."